CHAPTER 1. EXPENDITURE OF APPROPRIATED FUNDS

- A. Introduction. One of the more pleasant supervisory tasks is to reward employees for exceptional performance. Supervisors have a normal and healthy self-interest in building and maintaining a highly motivated and productive work force. Public recognition for superior performance helps build morale and improve productivity as employees learn that new ideas are welcome and high quality performance is rewarded.
- B. Purpose. The incentive awards program motivates employees to increase productivity and creativity by rewarding employee job performance and ideas which benefit the Government, and which are substantially above normal job requirements. This manual implements the Department of Transportation's (DOT's) Personnel Manual (DPM) Chapter 451, Incentive Awards, as well as 5 CFR 451 and Chapter 45 of Title 5, U.S.C., which is the legal basis for the Federal Incentive Awards Program.
- C. Policy. It is the policy of the Commandant to:
1. Motivate all employees of the Coast Guard to increase their creativity and productivity through recognition exceptional job performance, commitment to satisfaction, continuous quality improvement and saving ideas which benefit the economy of the Coast Guard, Department, or Federal Government.
 2. Recognize and reward individuals and groups appropriately on the basis of merit for special acts or services, inventions, or other personal contributions that significant and which substantially exceed normal job standards and expectations.
 3. Assure that incentive awards under this Instruction are used only for their intended purpose to recognize and reward an employee, or group of employees, for contributions which benefit the Coast Guard and are above or beyond normal job requirements.
- D. Types of Awards. There are a variety of awards, many of which are appropriate to specific situations, from a letter of appreciation to a cash or honorary award. The decision on which award to recommend depends on the kind of accomplishment, as well as its magnitude and duration. Supervisors and managers should consider the awards program a flexible system and one which can be adapted to meet management needs.
- E. Coverage.
1. The provisions of this Instruction apply to Coast Guard civilian employees paid from appropriated funds. Awards and recognition for Non-appropriated Fund (NAF) Activities employees are covered in the Nonappropriated Fund (NAF) Personnel Manual, COMDTINST M12271.1A (series).
 2. Instructions on awards and recognition for members of the Senior Executive Service (SES) are contained in the Executive Performance Appraisal System and Executive Performance

Review Board, COMDTINST M12305.1A (series). Commandant policy and guidance on awards for suggestions, inventions, and scientific achievements are contained in the Improved Idea Express Suggestion System, COMDTINST M5305.4 (series). Military members are not eligible for cash awards under the provisions of this Instruction.

F. Authority for Expenditure of Appropriate Funds.

1. Under provisions of Title 5 United States Code (U.S.C.) 4503 and 5 U.S.C. 5403, the Coast Guard may pay cash awards to, and incur necessary expenses for, the honorary recognition of employees who, by their suggestion, invention, superior accomplishment, or other personal effort contribute to the efficiency, economy, or other improvement of Government operations; or who perform special acts or services in the public interest in connection with or related to their official employment.
2. This authority covers payment of a cash award. It also covers expenses for honorary awards (plaques, certificates, medals, pins, etc.) and travel costs for recipients. Award nominations and supporting documentation should be considered privileged information, and should be made available only to those with a need-to-know. Failure to observe this rule may result in embarrassment to the nominee, to management, or to both.
- I. Summer, Stay-In-School, and Co-op Employees. Employees employed in these positions are eligible for official letters of commendation, letters of appreciation, and honorary or cash Special Act or Service Awards.

2. Employees Whose Primary Job Responsibility Is Not in the EEO Area. These are employees whose work is not specifically in the EEO area, but who advance equal employment opportunity in the Coast Guard through superior accomplishments in training, recruitment, or other activity.
3. EEO Program Leaders. These are employees who have specific responsibilities for equal employment opportunity (EEO) within the Coast Guard such as Civil Rights Officers, EEO Counselors, Federal Women's Program Managers, or Hispanic Program Managers. Examples include providing career counseling to employee, providing effective resolution of employee discrimination complaints, development of EEO action plans, and achieving success in working in support of economic opportunity or other community action programs directed to advance equal opportunity in government. The Equal Employment Opportunity (EEO) Program Leaders are ineligible to receive Awards in Support of EEO/Affirmative. Their efforts may be recognized by the Secretary's Meritorious Achievement Award (Silver Medal), Commandant's Superior Achievement Award (Bronze Medal), or Commander's Award for Civilian Service.

G. Civilian Employee of the Year. This award recognizes deserving civilian employees for superior job performance and community involvement. Criteria and nomination procedures will be issued shortly via Commandant Instruction.

H. Official Letters of Commendation are normally written and presented by an immediate supervisor for high quality performance of official duties such as extra effort, consistent devotion to duty, or above average accomplishment on a project, service to the customer, or public relations assignment. These letters may also be awarded by other supervisors when an employee has temporarily worked on another project or when a supervisor wishes to recognize special contributions by an employee of another organizational element. The original letter, presented to the employee, should state that a copy of the commendation will be filed as a permanent document in the employee's official personnel folder (OPF).

- I. Letters of Appreciation are informal letters normally from a supervisor to an individual employee or group of employees. These letters may also be presented by official Coast Guard committees or working groups. Letters of appreciation serve as morale builders, providing the supervisor and others with means to express appreciation for an employee's efforts on a particular project or performance under adverse conditions. They are not official awards and are not filed in the employee's OPF, although they may be placed in the employee's Employee Performance Folder (EPF).

CHAPTER 6. SPECIAL ACT OR SERVICE AWARDS

- A. Introduction. This Chapter sets forth requirements for granting Special Act or Service Awards in recognition of individual or group effort which goes significantly beyond expected job performance as reflected on employee individual performance appraisals. The Special Act or Service Award is used to improve efficiency, economy, and effectiveness by motivating employees to increase productivity and creativity, and by rewarding their efforts.
- B. Special Act or Service Awards.
1. Definition. Special Act or Service Awards are monetary or non- monetary awards that shall be granted for a contribution resulting in tangible or intangible benefits or services to the government. Contributions include accomplishments achieved through inventions, suggestions, or special acts or services which contribute to the efficiency, economy, or other improvements of government operations, increased customer satisfaction, or a significant reduction in paperwork.
 2. Criteria. Recognition by a Special Act or Service Award is appropriate when an employee or group of employees contribute substantially beyond expectations on a specific assignment or job function. The award is in addition to Performance Awards which recognize employee performance during the entire performance appraisal year and is based on the annual rating of record. Special Act or Service Awards are used to recognize exemplary efforts such as:
 - a. A nonrecurring contribution either within or outside of job responsibilities;
 - b. A scientific or technical achievement;
 - c. An act of heroism;
 - d. Disclosure of fraud, waste, or abuse; or
 - e. Increased services to the customer.
 3. Determining Extent of Job Responsibility. Special acts or services are often related to the employee's work. Being related to the employee's job, however, does not automatically mean that the contribution is part of the employee's job responsibilities. A contribution can be considered to be within "job responsibility" if it falls within expected job performance requirements. Because of the close relationship that can exist between an employee contribution and normal job requirements, decisions frequently must be made to determine whether a contribution recommended for recognition goes beyond what normally is expected of the contributor.
 4. Documentation Requirements. The supervisor shall prepare a brief but explicitly-written justification describing the superior accomplishments performed by the employee or group of employees. If a cash award of $5,000 or less is recommended, the written justification is

6.B.4. (cont'd) prepared in the Remarks section of the SF-52. If a cash award greater than $5,000 is recommended, a supplemental statement is also prepared. All written justifications must include a description of the tangible and/or intangible benefits derived from the contribution. Tangible or intangible benefits are calculated by application of the charts contained in enclosure (1) and enclosure (2).

5. Determining the Amount of Cash Award. If a Special Act or Service Award is to include cash, the amount of the award must be based on the value of the benefits received which may be either tangible, intangible, or a combination of both. Neither type of benefit is inherently of greater value than the other. Tangible and intangible benefits are calculated as follows:
 - a. Tangible Benefits. Every contribution must be reviewed to determine whether it will result in savings of time, personnel, materials, or equipment. If so, the estimated savings for the first full year of operation are calculated less the cost involved in implementing the contribution. The amount of the award is normally based on a reasonable estimate of these net tangible benefits for the first full year of operation. The estimated net tangible benefits total is applied to the Tangible Benefits Scale listed in enclosure (1).
 - b. Intangible Benefits. These are contributions the benefit of which cannot be measured directly in dollar savings but which provide better quality service to the public or assist the Coast Guard in accomplishing its mission in a more effective manner. The amount of the award is determined by the scope of the program affected by the contribution and its impact on that program. To estimate the acceptable cash award for a contribution with intangible benefits, supervisors should consider the length of time the employee spent on the project, degree of complexity, etc. The Cash Award Scale for Intangible Benefits is in enclosure (2).
6. Relationship to Other Forms of Recognition. Special Act or Service Awards may be granted along with or addition to performance awards or Quality Step Increases. However, an employee may not be granted a special act or service award and a performance award for the same contributions that were within job responsibilities. The act or service must have been nonrecurring and have significantly exceeded normal job expectations.
7. Group Awards. When a contribution has been made by a group of employees, all contributing employees, including supervisors, may share in the award except when an employee has received a performance award for the same contribution. The cash award granted may be made in equal shares to each employee in the group or in proportion to their personal contribution to the achievement.
8. Time Limits. For fairness, maximum employee motivation and confidence, it is important that the award process function be done quickly and efficiently. Nominations should be submitted whenever appropriate, but no later than 90 days after the act or achievement which merits the award.

9. Nomination Procedures.

- a. The award justification shall be forwarded to the Command Staff Advisor for regulatory review prior to submission to the approving official. Nominations which are disapproved, or for which a lower or higher cash value is approved, will be returned with an explanation to the originator.
- b. A proposed citation highlighting significant achievements should accompany the nomination.
- c. The Commander's Award for Civilian Service may be given with the Special Acts.

10. Approval Authorities.

- a. Area and district commanders, commanders of maintenance and logistics commands, commanding officers of headquarters units, assistant commandants for directorates, Chief of Staff, Chief Counsel, and chiefs of special staff offices at headquarters may approve a cash award up to $5,000. This may be redelegated to subordinate managers and supervisors but no lower than two supervisory levels above the recommending official..
- b. Nominations for cash awards in excess of $5,000 and up to $10,000 must be forwarded to Commandant (G-WPC) for review via the local Command Staff Advisor. The nomination shall contain the signature of the local resource funds manager certifying that sufficient funds are available. Commandant (G-WPC) will forward nominations to the Coast Guard Awards Review Board, which will make recommendations to the Commandant (G-C). Commandant (G-WPC) will forward the nomination to Commandant (G-C) for final approval via Commandant (G-WP) and Commandant (G-W).
- c. Nominations for cash awards in excess of $10,000 and up to $25,000 are approved by the U. S. Office of Personnel Management (OPM). All nominations must be forwarded to the Commandant (G-WPC) via the local Command Staff Advisor. The nominations shall contain the signature of the local resource funds manager. Commandant (G-WPC) will forward nominations to the Coast Guard Awards Review Board, which will make recommendations to the Commandant (G-C). Approved nominations are forwarded to the Departmental Director, Office of Human Resource Management for review and for endorsement by the Secretary of Transportation, who forwards nominations to OPM.
- d. Nominations for cash awards in excess of $25,000 are approved by the President. All nominations must be forwarded to the Commandant (G-WPC) via the local Command Staff Advisor. The nominations shall contain the signature of the local resource funds manager. Commandant (G-WPC) will forward nominations to the Coast Guard Awards Review Board, which will make recommendations to the Commandant (G-C). Approved nominations are forwarded to the Departmental Director, Office of Human

6.B.10 d. (cont'd) Resource Management for review and for endorsement by the Secretary of Transportation, who forwards nominations to the Office of Personnel Management (OPM). The Office of Personnel Management reviews and submits approved nominations to the President for final approval.

11. Repeat Awards. Repeat awards are discouraged and care must be taken to ensure that they are not automatically granted. Reviewing and approving officials, and other managers should be alert to and take action to correct patterns of repetitive nominations. They should ensure that the same level of performance is not unjustifiably rewarded, and that awards are not inappropriately being used as compensation for lack of promotion opportunities, rewards for long and faithful service, etc.
12. Presentation. Awards shall be presented to recipients at appropriate ceremonies as soon as practicable after approval. In addition, publicity should also be given consistent with local command procedures.

C. On-The-Spot Cash Awards.

1. Definition. Supervisors and employees are faced with ever-increasing work load demands due to changing priorities, technological breakthroughs, and a need to get more done with less. Employees often help by taking on extra projects or proposing new ideas that have an immediate benefit to their office's ability to get the job done. To recognize an extra work effort, supervisors are authorized to grant On-The-Spot cash awards as a form of special recognition.
2. Criteria. Employees may receive no more than two On-The-Spot cash awards at the maximum amount of $250 each, not to exceed $500 in a 12-month period. The contribution must have not been previously recognized by a performance award.
3. Amount of Award. The maximum amount receivable for any one award shall be $250. Employees receiving awards of less than $250 may receive as many on-the-spot cash awards during the year as it may take to reach a cumulative total of $500 during the year.
4. Justification. The supervisor shall prepare a brief but explicit written justification which shall be made in the Remarks section of the SF-52. The SF-52 will be forwarded to Command Staff Advisor for regulatory review and processing. The resource funds manager must certify the availability of sufficient funding.
5. Approval Authority. First level supervisors may approve On-The-Spot cash awards.

- G. 4. Attention should be given to assuring that time off granted will not negatively impact employees credited with large amounts of annual leave carry-over.

H. Approval Authority for Time Off Awards.

1. Area and district commanders, commanders of maintenance and logistics commands, commanding officers of headquarters units, assistant commandants for directorates, Chief of Staff, Chief Counsel, and chiefs of special staff offices at headquarters are delegated authority to approve time off awards. These officials are authorized to re-delegate authority for managers and supervisors to approve up to 19 hours of time off.
2. If re-delegated, first level supervisors may approve a maximum of one day off without further review. For periods of more than one work day, the decision to grant a time off award and the amount of such award must be reviewed and approved by an official who is at a higher level than the official who made the initial decision, unless there is no official at a higher level in the command.
3. Nominations for time off awards shall be reviewed by the Command Staff Advisor for procedural compliance and adequacy of documentation. Upon completion, the Command Staff Advisor shall forward the nomination to the approval official.

I. Documentation For Time Off Awards.

1. All time off awards must be recommended and justified in writing. For time off awards of up to 19 hours time off, a brief but explicit written justification shall be made in the Remarks section of the SF-52 describing the employee's contribution(s).
2. For awards exceeding 19 hours, a supplemental written justification shall be attached to the SF-52 which must:
 - a. State the name and position of the employee;
 - b. Describe how the employee met the required criteria (e.g., give examples of the employee's achievement and performance);
 - c. Justify and states the number of hours of time off granted by describing the benefits realized by the Coast Guard from the employee's contribution;
 - d. Explain why time off award is justified above any increases in basic pay and/or performance award;
 - e. Indicate whether the employee previously received a time off award during the same leave year and, if so, the date of the award and how many hours were granted.

- J. Personal Action. The amount of time granted shall be documented on a Standard Form 50 to be retained in the employee's Official Personnel Folder.

- K. Merit Promotion. Due weight shall be given to time off awards as an incentive award when rating and ranking an employee for promotion.

- 1) The minimum award for tangible benefits may be granted only when the benefits reach or exceed $250.
- 2) Contributions recognized by cash awards based on intangible benefits must be comparable in value to the Government, with those based on tangible benefits. Comparisons are shown in parenthesis below the award amount in the above chart.
- 3) When a contribution has both tangible benefits and intangible benefits, the amount of the award must be based on the total value of the contribution to the Government, i.e., a combination of the award amount based on tangible and the award amount based on intangible benefits.
